Santa has a 'mail box'

The Romulus Civic League is sponsoring a "Letters to Santa" campaign and is urging children to get their letters to "the North Pole" as soon as possible.

"Letters to Santa" proved to be a very popular holiday occupation last year, according to RCL members, "and that's why we are repeating it."

Children wishing to write to Santa may deposit their letter in Santa's mailbox, located in front of the Romulus Public Library, 1111 S. Wayne Road.

The children will receive a response from Santa, although the Jolly Ole Man is very, very busy at this time of the year.

Inaugural Ball set for Friday

If ticket request is any criteria for the popularity of the Inaugural Ball, then there will be standing room only Friday night at the Hilton Inn, located on Wickham Road.

Tickets, at $30 per couple, are going fast and city officials expect a sell-out crowd for the Seventh Annual Inaugural Ball. Tickets may be purchased from any of the elected officials or at City Hall.

The program will get underway at 6:30 p.m. with a reception, followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. and dancing shortly afterward.

City homes to be demolished

Burned out houses and dilapidated structures will be coming down in Romulus thanks to action taken Monday by City Council.

The council approved a recommendation from Patrick Hogan and David Paul to award Traditional Building Company the contract to demolish several structures that were either abandoned or present owners wouldn't rehabilitate them and wished them destroyed.

Although Traditional Building Company, which bid $17,169 for the project, was not the lowest bidder, the company was the lowest qualified bidder, council was told.

Story teller

Story-tellers have fascinated children and adults for centuries, and when the stories are about Santa they capture the thoughts and imagination even more. Children are flocking to the Romulus Library these days for books and Christmas stories. Lois Van Stipdonk (above) has the children's attention as she begins, "It was the Night before Christmas..." Children also may mail Santa a special letter and actually get a reply thanks to the Romulus Civic League which has set up Santa's Mail Box at the Library located in the Municipal Complex, 11111 South Wayne Road.

By charter rule

Treasurer adds to his staff

Newly-elected city treasurer John Lewkowicz will receive more help in the Treasurer's Office.

After a debate Monday night in the City Council chambers, council voted to approve funding for an administrative secretary for the staff of the treasurer.

Lewkowicz argued that the City Charter provides (Article 5, Section 5.2B) that "there shall be administrative secretaries for the mayor, clerk, and treasurer. They shall be hired by the official they serve... and their salaries will be the average for that position of all the cities of Wayne County."

With councilman Barry Baumann and Pete Bergeron casting "no" votes, the request was approved. However, not before Baumann pointed out that the former treasurer, Beverly McAnally, who now serves as mayor, had successfully conducted the treasurer's business without an administrative secretary.

"I know that the charter (City Charter) says you may hire a secretary," said Baumann, "but I just can't justify this expenditure to the taxpayers, especially since the person you followed in this office didn't have one."

Lewkowicz stressed that "there are now more forms, a heavier workload than in the past, and I believe I am acting according to the charter's dictum in requesting for the secretary." Lewkowicz presently has a 3-person department.

Bergeron pointed out that the treasurer does have a deputy to assist in the department's workload and that the charter doesn't provide for such. However, councilman Jimmie Raspberry, supported by city attorney, Barry A. Seifman, said that the title and position are required by state law.

Bergeron replied that "we have gone without an administrative secretary in that department for the past four years and with the tight budget we're facing, I feel we can do without it."

Raspberry, however, moved to amend the budget to provide for funding for the position. He was supported by councilman William Wadsworth.

City gets 'green light' for traffic signal

Concerned that the site is a traffic hazard, City Council Monday night directed the administration to pursue obtaining and installing a traffic signal at Fire Station No. 2 on Middlebelt.

Councilman Junior Block told his colleagues and Mayor Beverly McAnally that he feared "someone would be killed one day if we didn't get a traffic signal there."

According to a study by David J. Paul, Director of Public Works, the estimated installation cost of the signal would be between $15,000 to $20,000.

"Final approval and installation of the traffic signal would have to come from the Wayne County Road Commission because Middlebelt Road is under county jurisdiction," Paul pointed out.

Paul said Fire Chief James Haislip also concurred "that there is a definite need for the traffic signal."

Councilman Peter Bergeron questioned Mayor Beverly McAnally about where her administration would find the funds to pay for the traffic light.

"Do we have money available?"

Cable update

Barden to purchase building

The city has moved a giant step closer toward cablevision.

Mayor Beverly McAnally informed City Council Monday night that she and members of the Cable Commission met with Don Barden, President of Barden Cablevision, for an update on the progress of constructing the city's Cable TV network.

And McAnally said she and others came away "satisfied that there is some progress toward that end."

Barden was awarded the city franchise to construct a cable TV system 1½ years ago, however, no visible construction has begun. The "little action" on part of the successful franchise bidder prompted the meeting with the new administration.

"The franchise agreement," Mayor McAnally pointed out, "gives the mayor the discretion to decide about the suitability of the studio site, and the previous administration had negotiated a site on Wick Road."

"However, due to the problems, namely sewer problems, on Wick that site was found not to be developable at this time," McAnally continued. "So, in the interest of cooperation with the cable TV company and in the interests of this community, my position is that whatever suitable site that can be acquired readily and in conformity with the franchise agreement would have my approval."

Barden's staff has apparently found a suitable location and building, but is withholding the information until a final agreement of purchase is made.

Mayor McAnally told council that "Barden has made an offer to purchase a suitable building and (he) plans to extensively renovate and improve the building."

"It would also be improper for me to reveal the location of that building until the two parties come to an agreement," McAnally concluded.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry, who was in attendance at the meeting with Barden, told his colleagues that he is satisfied that Barden will live up to the franchise agreement.

"I'm satisfied on what I've heard," Raspberry said. "I feel he's going to get this thing done."

RPAC honors music director

Dedication and concern was the theme for the first annual RPAC awards Program.

The "Recognition for Participation, Achievement and Concern Award" is presented to people within the educational community who have given an extraordinary effort to benefit Romulus school children.

The top honor went to Richard Kruse, instrumental music director for Romulus schools and the instrumental music teacher at the Junior High School. His efforts to develop a program for Romulus instrumental music students has brought state and national recognition to the community through the Junior High Symphonic Band in competition performances.

Also receiving recognition are the following individuals:

William Bowers, supervisor of maintenance and operations for helping to provide a safer and more secure learning environment for students.

Rose Raspberry, kindergarten teacher at Barth Elementary School for her dedication to her students and for providing them with an excellent introduction to formal education. Ms. Raspberry was recovering from surgery and her award was accepted by her father, Jimmy Raspberry.

Judy Thompson James, a kindergarten teacher at Cory Elementary School and a former music teacher, for devoting herself to furthering the educational process in the classroom and through her Orff classes, and through her part of the opera project for elementary children which made the event an educational as well as cultural experience.

John Morgan, math teacher at Merriman Elementary School, for his success in presenting math for fourth through sixth graders so that students are

Police nab 2 arson suspects

Romulus police arrested two men, one a Romulus resident, who are accused of arson.

At approximately 8 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 5, police responded to a call that a car was being stripped on Diane Street in the Morgan Manor Apt. complex.

Upon police arrival, the automobile, a 1978 Cadillac, burst into flames.

Arrested at the scene were Johnnie Anderson, 29, of 3224 Gladstone, Detroit and a Romulus resident, Gary Fugate, 22, of 9518 Essex.

Upon further investigation, it was determined that the car had not been reported stolen, however, it was not registered to either of the suspects.

Anderson and Fugate were arraigned on charges of arson of personal property over $50 before 34th District Court judge, James Stone.

Both defendants stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered for them by the court.

Personal bond was set at $5,000 each and examination will be held on Dec. 14.

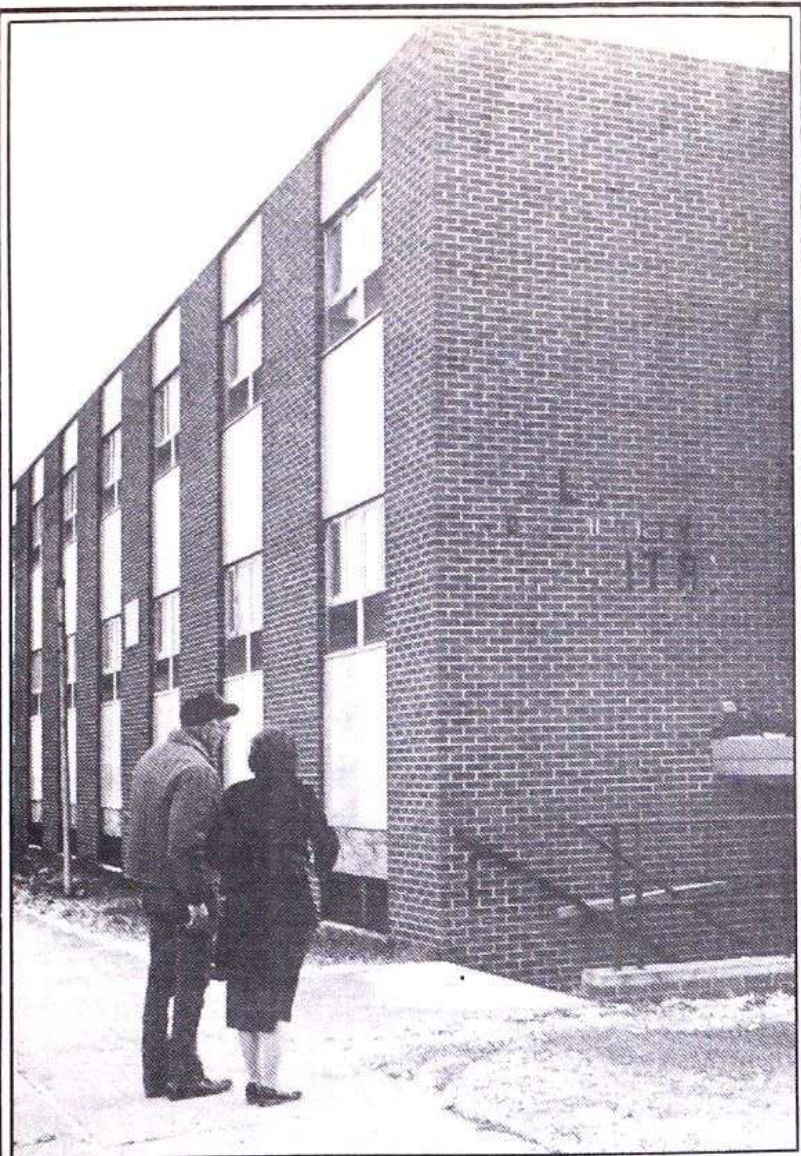

Both parties have posted bail and will be free until their examination date.

Officers are still investigating the ownership of the automobile and how it came into the possession of the two defendants.

Savage teachers learn about stress

As part of a major problem solving project proposed by the staff, the teachers at Savage School have elected to be inserviced in the area of stress management. The first session in the series took place late last month.

Fran Brandi, expert consultant on "stress", came to Savage from the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Her task was to make clear to the teachers what "stress" is. She talked about "distress" as a negative result and "eustress" as a more positive affect.

The group got involved in a brainstorming session to determine ways of relieving stress. In conclusion, Ms. Brandi felt that there were three magic methods: regular exercise, good nutrition and relaxation. The final activity entailed an exercise in total relaxation. Chemically treated (See Page A-8)

Nothing serious

Snow and sleet combine to cause fender-benders

Last week's accumulation of snow and slush resulted in a few "fender benders" but no serious accidents, say area police.

"We're surprised and relieved," said Sumpter Township Police Corporal Wanda Elden. "Last week was really nothing out of the ordinary."

Two weather-related accidents occurred in the township, Elden said. On the snowy afternoon of Tuesday, December 6, a car slid and skidded into another at the Willow and Sumpter Road intersections.

On Thursday, a similar accident took place on Sherwood south of Willow.

No injuries were reported, the corporal said.

Winter's first crackdown resulted in only one weather-related accident on Belleville streets, say city police. On December 6, a driver skidded and was hit by another car at the Huron River Drive and Main Street intersections.

Neither driver was injured. "Other than that, it's been a pretty quiet week," said Belleville Police Chief Willard Dockter.

Van Buren Township police reported about 10 "fender benders" but no injury-causing accidents, said a police department spokeswoman.

Most of the accidents took place earlier in the week, and at different parts of the township, said the spokeswoman. She noted that two incidents took place over the weekend outside the K-mart store at the Lakewood Shopping Center. "The cars skidded over snow in the parking lot," said the spokeswoman.

Church to host flutists

Belleville church members are looking forward to a special guest, Granville Moore, a professional flutist and his daughter, Julie, soloist.

Moore, has played flute in many area symphonies, musical programs and church services. Julie, a music major at Marygrove College has had many parts in school plays and musicals.

Both will be at the Belleville Church on Dec. 17 at 1:30 in the afternoon. The community is welcome to this free concert.

Music can soothe the beast, charm one, stir the soul, or make a person feel happy — the music that comes out of Romulus school bands, that is!

To see the young people moving to the music's beat attired in informal or formal band uniforms and playing songs both old and new, is one of the most stirring scenes in Romulus.

The award-winning instrumental music department is headed by Junior High instructor, Richard Kruse. The director provides an outstanding example of how to obtain great results with dedication and hard work rather than money.

The program starts as beginning band at fourth grade. Elementary schools are divided between two fine leaders, Mark Fernandez who makes a hit with students by emphasizing current popular music selections as well as the tried and true, and Gideon Pettway who challenges his students with more traditional and (to older folks) a nostalgic approach to band music. Students play according to skill in the beginners, concert or symphonic bands.

The Junior High band of 7th and 8th graders work under the direction of Kruse to develop skills on their instrument. In the Senior High School, Henry James works with students in the concert, symphonic, and marching bands as well as a jazz band.

The students perform for their peers, for parents and in competition with other school bands. Their hard work is reflected year after year through the number of awards and high scores received in the district and state-wide competitions.

The Junior and Senior high schools have consistently beat out schools from larger and more prosperous districts.

The Junior High Symphonic Band has twice been recognized for its excellence by being included in the U.S. Congressional Record in 1980 and 1982.

In January the group will perform before a convention of professional musicians. The performance will be recorded and used for demonstration purposes by school instrumental music teachers throughout the mid-west.

Kruse also works with students during the summer in the Romulus Bi-Centennial Band. They march and play in preparation for marching in the Romulus 4th of July parade and down Woodward Avenue in the annual State Fair parade.

able," Bergeron asked. "Are we spending funds that just aren't there?" The mayor replied that it would necessitate a budget transfer.

Councilman Jimmie Rasberry joined the dialogue and cautioned the practice of dipping in already depleting funds would place the city in a precarious financial position. However he agreed with the council's majority decision to direct the mayor to pursue the issue, after city attorney Barry A. Seifman pointed out that safety must be a primary concern.

"Delay could cause a lawsuit," Seifman said. "We are already involved in one lawsuit and seeking safety. Although the city can do what only the city can afford to do, a lawsuit could result if someone is injured or killed in that area."

challenged and excited about the subject and share a great enthusiasm for their teacher.

Bob Brock, Home Economics Department head and health occupations teacher at the senior high school, who works with the community and his students, devoting much time and energy to benefit the Romulus community, and his work with the Health Occupations student organization to lead the group to state and national honors in competition.

Mark Fernandez, instrumental music teacher at Cory, Halecreek and Hayti Elementary Schools, for inspiring and exciting his students about music education.

Mike Teasdale, Business Education department head and teacher at the senior high school whose support of the community and work with students has proved a valuable asset for the district. His involvement with the school store helped to make it a model for other districts to copy.

Tom Baldwin, Science department head and teacher at the high school, for his work with students and with the community, and support of the community in many ways.

Al Sheffield, Principal at the senior high school for his dedication to securing quality education for all high school students. He has helped set higher standards for students through his work to develop a strengthened curriculum and implement more stringent requirements for graduation, add by broadening the lines of communication with parents and students.

Carol Harrieff, parent and volunteer for many school activities and projects, whose service to the school community is unsurpassed.

Alice Kesner, Parent and volunteer, for her efforts in assuring the success of the HANSEL and GRETTEL children's opera, efforts which actually made the project a reality.

Norm McFall, Parent and Booster Club president. His dedication and concern helps provide an opportunity for children to play sports, which without the Booster Club would not be available to many of those who benefit from the athletic program.

A special recognition was given to Tom Mooradian, editor of the Romulus Roman, for his excellent cooperation and assistance to the school community in publicizing special events and making an effort to publish all of the items submitted to him. His support helped tremendously in getting information out to the community.

The awards presented were to honor the special people who work for excellence in Romulus education, according to Howard Kesner, RPAC President. In his opening remarks, Kesner expressed regret that it was not possible to recognize all who are worthy of recognition, and a commitment from RPAC to work to provide further opportunities to honor these exceptional people.

RPAC hopes that these awards move the educational community towards better communication, cooperation and understanding, said Kesner.

Swearing in ceremonies

A key position at City Hall was filled by recently-elected treasurer John Lewkowicz (center) who picked Patricia Geldmacher as deputy city treasurer. Ms. Geldmacher is being sworn in by District Judge Henry Zaborowski. The new deputy treasurer brings to the office four years of experience, having served in that capability when Lewkowicz held the title six years ago. She also was the secretary to the Housing Commission. "We are very fortunate to have such a qualified person as Ms. Geldmacher for the position," Lewkowicz later stated. "She is trustworthy, dedicated with past experience. I am very happy to have her back as my co-worker."

Ghost town

Rawsonville gets historic recognition

After more than three years of work, research, and delays, Official State of Michigan Historic Site Designation has been awarded to the 1840's ghost town village of Rawsonville, according to information received today by Cathy Horste, Van Buren Township Historian, in a letter from the Michigan Historical Commission.

The efforts to protect this unique site, and obtain official designation as a Michigan Historic Site first began in September, 1980, when the GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club was made aware of plans by the Wayne and Washtenaw County Road Commissions to change the course of Rawsonville Road, possibly endangering the remains of the old Rawsonville Village.

Inquiries by the study club also attracted the attention of then Township Supervisor, Patricia Cullin, who authorized the formation of an Historic District Study Commission to investigate ways to protect the Rawsonville site.

Several members of the study club, as well as Township employees and elected officials served as volunteers on this investigative body.

In October, 1980, the Van Buren Township Historic District Study Commission was successful in having the Rawsonville Village site declared a local historic site by both the governing bodies of Van Buren Township and Ypsilanti Township.

This dual designation was necessary because the ghost town covers both the north and south shores of the Huron River, and the east and west sides of Rawsonville Road, thus falling under the jurisdiction of four governmental bodies — Van Buren Township, Ypsilanti Township, and both Wayne and Washtenaw Counties. (This dual-jurisdiction provides many anecdotes which makes Rawsonville unique in Michigan's history.)

For example, the large Rawsonville Inn, which straddled the county line, was often the scene of illegal cock fighting. The Inn sent out guards who sounded an alarm if they saw the Wayne County Sheriff approaching, and the fighting was moved to the Washtenaw County side of the Inn.

It was moved to the Wayne County side if the Washtenaw County Sheriff was spotted. The financial bookkeeping for the 1850's Rawsonville one room school was also difficult, as the building was constructed in such a manner that the students were in Wayne County and the teacher was in Washtenaw.

(Taxes were collected from both counties to support the school.)

The Historic District Study Commission, in cooperation with the GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club, filed for official State Designation of the Rawsonville site in December 1980, as further protection from possible encroachment by the Road Commission.

At the same time, they filed for Historic Designation for the Old Township Hall on Main Street in Belleville, and the French Landing Dam and Powerhouse on Haggerty Road.

In 1981, the designation and State Marker were approved for the Old Township Hall, and in 1982, the designation and State Marker were approved for the dam. The markers for both the hall and the dam were officially dedicated and erected in October, 1983.

Now, more than three years after the original application, it appears that Rawsonville will finally receive the protection and designation it has so long deserved. State approval of the wording of the text on the marker, and raising the funds to pay for it are all that stand in the way of completion.

The Rawsonville marker, which will stand in the Mosley, Bennett, Barlow Nature Conservancy, on the Van Buren Township side of Rawsonville Road, is expected to cost approximately $2000.

The GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club, which paid for the Township Hall and Dam markers, hopes to raise sufficient money to pay for the Rawsonville marker this Christmas season by selling a "Monopoly-type" game based on Van Buren Township, and by marketing historic scene stationary made from sketches used in Water Under The Bridge - A History of Van Buren Township.

Anyone interested in more information about the project should contact Nancy Sawyer, president of the GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club, at 697-0764.

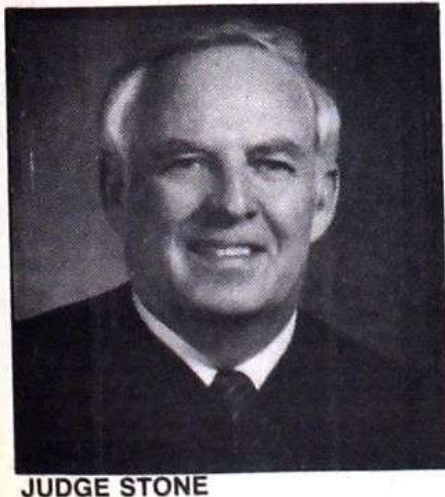

Judge Stone to serve as 34th chief judge

34th District Court Judge James B. Stone has been chosen to serve as Chief Judge of that Court. His term is to run from January 1, 1984 through December 31, 1985.

Judge Stone was appointed to his judgeship in 1969 by former Governor William G. Milliken and has been elected to succeeding terms.

Stone is a graduate of the Detroit College of Law and prior to his appointment by Governor Milliken, he was the Court Administrator for the Wayne County Circuit Court.

In addition, he has served as Chief Deputy Circuit Court Clerk for the Wayne County Circuit Court, Supervisor of Elections for Wayne County and legal advisor to former Wayne County Clerk, Edgar M. Branigin.

New on the scene

Joseph Edward Girard

The word — "It's a boy!" — went out to friends and relatives following the Nov. 24 arrival of Joseph Edward Girard, the first-born child of Mark and Linda Girard of 48445 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville.

Putting in his appearance at 12:52 p.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, the infant who weighed 6 lbs.-3 ozs. and measured 19½ inches, is heir to Girard's Produce — a retail and U-pick farm west of Belleville which his mom and dad own and operate.

The baby's proud grandparents are Glenn and Doris Rowe of Ypsilanti and Richard and Charlotte Girard of Belleville. Little Joey (as he's being called) also has three great-grandparents: Mrs. Violet Noll of Ann Arbor and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Girard of Windsor, Ont., Canada.

The new mother is the former Linda Rowe.

Jason Thomas Wertz

"Jason Thomas" is the title chosen by Donald and Donna Wertz of 878 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville, for their second son who was born at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Weighing in at 7 lbs.-14½ ozs. and measuring 20¼ inches, Jason is the new brother of Brian Wertz, who's four years old, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Wertz Sr. of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gorzynski of Ludington.

Jason's week-late arrival gives him a back-to-back birthday with his dad since he bowed in the day before, on Dec. 3 at 11:33 a.m.

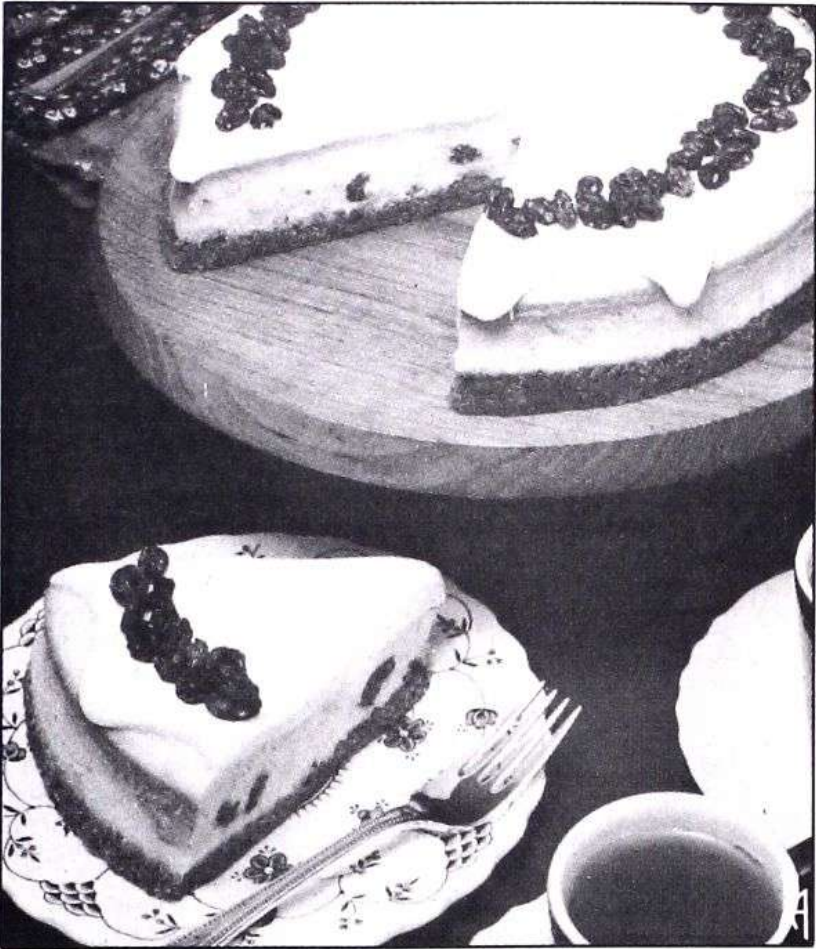

Brent Allan Kemeter

The birth of their fourth child, a son, is announced by Daniel and Kathy Kemeter of 14909 Elwell Road, Belleville. Putting in his appearance at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, he arrived Nov. 25, the day before Thanksgiving, at 3:17 a.m.

The seven-pound, 11-ouncer, who measured 20½ inches, is the new brother of Scott, who's 14; Kenny, who's nine, and Danelle, who's four.

Their grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Chapman of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bartosh of Belleville.

Held, Riblett marry; honeymoon in Canada

A four-day honeymoon in Canada followed the autumn marriage of Laurie Katherine Riblett and Richard Floyd. Held at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Plymouth.

Pastor Leonard Koeninger presided at the five o'clock rite before some 200 friends and relatives including the couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Riblett of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Schaefer of Belleville.

For the double ring rite on Oct. 1 the altar was graced with pink and white carnations and spider mum arrangements, the pews being marked by white satin bows.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, the bride appeared in a white Victorian-mode gown of Venice and Chantilly lace, the high-necked bodice being accented with seed pearls and the chapel train cascading in tiers of Wedgewood lace.

She wore a wide-brimmed lace hat to which her full-length veil of silk illusion was attached and completed her bridal finery with a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, red and pink roses, baby's breath and Baker's fern.

As her sister's honor attendant, Lisa Riblett of Plymouth donned a wine-colored floor-length gown with a high collar and sheer long sleeves. Her bouquet was comprised of pink and white roses, pink miniature carnations, baby's breath and Baker's fern.

Bridesmaids in identical attire were Debra A. Hendrix of Belleville, the bridegroom's sister, and Kelly Stidham of Manchester, the bride's niece.

Youngsters in the bridal coterie were Valerie Mae Hendrix, five, the bridegroom's niece, who wore a little dotted swiss wine-colored frock and carried white, red and pink roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath for her role as flower girl. Chad Allen DeMara, two, served as ringbearer.

Best man was Gary Held of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom. Others on the esquire side were Craig Riblett of Plymouth and Ron Held of Belleville, brothers of the bridal couple.

At the reception, which followed at the UAW Hall, the 235 guests were greeted by Mrs. Riblett in a teal green formal gown with a corsage of white roses, green-tipped miniature carnations and baby's breath pinned at the shoulder. The bridegroom's mother chose to wear an aubergine floor-length gown accented by a corsage of white roses, purple-tipped miniature carnations and baby's breath.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

As I measured, creamed, beat, folded and mixed my way through a day-long attack on Christmas baking — the bulk of it — plus a little dinnertime cooking on the side, I couldn't help but weigh the ease of today's preparations against the efforts faced by my mother.

The first thoughts occurred as I snipped open four packages of already-melted baking chocolate to add to my annual double batch of "BG's Favorites," (more properly known as Double Devilsfood Drops.) How simple, I thought; no double boiler needed, no messy pans and no time wasted. Voila! the chocolate was in the batter with just a few firm squeezes. Still another asset was the fact I didn't have to wait until the stuff cooled (as specified in the recipe) before adding it to the first mixture. Dropping the fudgy-nutty globs onto cookie sheets which didn't require greasing was still another plus.

As for those "antique" muffin tins I have to fall back on when I'm tackling more than a dozen of something, there's that uncomplicated spray-the-pan method which does away with calories as well as elbow grease.

And is there an easier, faster way to melt butter than via the microwave? Or soften cream cheese a bit? Or heat milk?

Granted, there were freezers in my Mom's heyday but she had only the refrigerator size, not a chest-type or upright as so many of us just take for granted anymore. Mine allows me to stock up on such pre-holiday baking essentials as nutmeats, margarine, raisins, dates and chocolate kisses, and to take advantage of sale prices as they occur throughout the autumn months.

Where would I store the dozens and dozens of goodies I "manufacture" every December if it weren't for that same North Pole unit, Tupperware and ziploc bags! The latter, unknown a few years back, are a breeze to use and with the heavy-duty freezer kind, you're assured of sealed-in freshness. (Sounds just like a commercial, doesn't it?)

Extra-strength plastic bags again came into play as I measured out soft, moist brown sugar which, in baking-days-of-yore, often hardened to brick consistency in its cardboard package. What a boon not having the worry of keeping it pliable. (Remember the old "Add a piece of apple to keep it soft" advice?)

And Silverstone coating! Is there anything quite as remarkable and wonderful? No sticking, no scrubbing, very little if any oil or shortening needed, and how great for toasting almonds quickly or caramelizing sugar. I extol Silverstone so often I should be on the payroll of its manufacturers.

No-sift flour; sticks of margarine with measurement markings on the wrappers; cooking oil in dripless, unbreakable bottles; nuts in pieces, slices, halves or whole portions; candy bars ready-crushed for all kinds of desserts and toppings; plastic wrap, dry yeast, powdered milk, are all bonuses for modern-day housewives.

On the other hand — can you believe we're still digging out shortening and messing up measuring cups the same as our forebears; that we're still struggling to open boxes of raisins; that baking powder and soda containers have not been updated one iota; that flour still comes in sacks that "powder up" the surroundings as they're opened; that ovens aren't equipped with thermostats which tell us what the temperature is exactly?

Ah well, they'll all materialize someday. At least it will give the columnists of tomorrow something to write about — and one hopes they'll realize just how easy they have it in the 21st century!

Since this was being penned on the anniversary of "the day that will live in infamy" — Dec. 7 — the airwaves were full of "remembering when." Following much the same format as that used in recalling JFK's assassination, newpeople were asking, "Where were you 42 years ago?" to those who obviously had been around at that time.

Admittedly, I was and I recall vividly what the situation was when the news was broadcast. Mere children at the time, my oldest brother and I were enroute from a very pleasant day in Kalamazoo. With our parents (who operated a country grocery store) and an aunt and uncle, we had spent the afternoon as guests of the Eck-Rich Meat people at their annual holiday open house. I remember all the freebies for kids and the delicious barbecued spareribs (one of our best sellers) as well as the company's many other products.

The way home was dark and long, probably some three hours, since the expressway was nonexistent in 1941 and we had to travel slow-moving, curving US-12. Half asleep in the backseat, I remember the cries of "Oh, my God, that means war!" coming from the adults as they suddenly hushed for the remainder of the radio announcement. I had no idea why they were perturbed or what on earth Pearl Harbor had to do with six people on a busy highway in Michigan. I really didn't know what war was but hearing the Deity invoked made it serious.

I recall how terribly upset the grownups were and that it certainly put a damper on what had been, up to then, a very jolly outing.

Although personally untouched by the ensuing war years, it wasn't long before I came to understand why my family had reacted in such anguish to that infamous day some 42 years ago.

In the event you missed the following very timely article in your daily newspaper, we are hereby doing a repeat. Supplied by Alcoholics Anonymous of Totowa, N.J., it might be an eyeopener for those contemplating holiday partying — and driving.

"So you think the drunk-driving laws in your state are tough? Well, thank your lucky stars you don't live in a country where it's hazardous to your health to be arrested for drunken driving. For example:

Australia: The names of the drivers are sent to the local newspapers and are printed under the heading, 'He's drunk and in jail.'

Malaya: The driver is jailed and if he's married, his wife is jailed, too.

United Kingdom, Finland and Sweden: Automatic jail term of one year.

South Africa: A 10-year prison sentence and the equivalent of a $10,000 fine, or both.

Turkey: Drunk drivers are taken 20 miles from town by the police and forced to walk back, under escort.

Bulgaria: A second conviction results in execution.

El Salvador: Your first offense is your last. Execution by firing squad."

If those don't sober you up, nothing will.

THE BOTTOM LINE: It's better to sit tight than to attempt to drive in that condition.

Slip a couple of strips of fresh red bell pepper into a sandwich. It's as tasty and moist as roast pepper, with a nice crunchy texture.

For best results with buttercream, spread a thin layer over cake and refrigerate to set the cake crumbs. Then smooth on finishing frosting.

Keep heat low if you're adding cheese to a sauce. High temperature will make it tough and stringy.

It's fun to make professional-looking chocolate curls with a potato peeler and room-temperature chocolate squares. Vary pressure to make curls of different thicknesses.

Taxes, taxes

W-W learns a lesson

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools district has earned an A+ for its work on moving the district to twice yearly tax collection. It is apparent that its officials have learned well from their experiences of two years ago. That experience was not pleasant for those officials. Hopes for a success with twice-yearly collection in the City of Westland turned to despair very quickly. Taxpayer ire, fueled by an almost 30 percent increase in the State Equalized Valuation and the effects of Public Act 114 that ordered all classifications of property be assessed at 50 percent of its value, boiled over with larger than expected summer tax bills and problems with several mortgage holders.

Wayne-Westland and Westland officials caught many a salvo from homeowners, who denounced the lack of information and advanced warning of the change. By late 1981 it was apparent the one-year test in Westland, while actually saving the school district $700,000 in interest charges, would not become permanent.

The district, a leader in the twice yearly collection two years ago, is now one of the last in Western Wayne County to move toward that tax collection practice. And the move this time is well planned and is being well executed.

The district is leaving nothing to chance. It is acting as an advocate for its taxpayers, contacting mortgage holders now to make sure that there will be no problems with escrow accounts.

It has presented the pros and cons to residents through its newsletter and aired questions at a public hearing in preparation for the change, if approved by the school board.

We congratulate the school district on doing its homework. It shows a concern and an understanding of the plight of taxpayers, that can only work to its advantage. A knowledgeable taxpayer is far better than an irate taxpayer. An understanding school district is far better than an unconcerned school district.

The switch to twice yearly tax collection will serve both the school district and taxpayers well. Both will benefit from it and from the new relationship that has been developed between the two.

A+, Wayne-Westland, A+.

Visiting rights

Was Bodenmiller off base?

Do Canton Township trustees have the right to make unannounced visits to township departments? That issue became the subject of heated debate during a Canton board meeting last week, after trustee Carol Bodenmiller's unannounced visit to Town Hall was interpreted by the treasurer as unprofessional, disruptive and intimidating to department workers.

According to Mrs. Bodenmiller, treasury department employees, busy preparing tax rolls, were courteous, helpful and continued working during her visit.

Treasurer Sterlini, however, insisted that the visit was ill-timed, discourteous and should have been preceded by a phone call.

We disagree. In order to make wise decisions regarding policy, board members need to be familiar with the internal operations of township departments.

Trustees, of course, are not permitted to demand time-consuming projects of township employees during their visits. If the purpose of a board member's visit is to gain specific information from a particular official, making an appointment ahead of time is a good idea.

Spontaneous visits are risky — the people we want to see may not be in, or might not have time available to spend with us.

But if the purpose of a visit is to simply observe, and thereby gain a deeper understanding of daily functions, we don't feel an appointment, and the red carpet treatment a warning might prompt, is necessary or desirable.

As for timing, what better time to watch and learn than when a department is performing at its peak?

Bodenmiller's description of activities in the treasurer's department during her visit is a credit to Sterlini, her department and its employees.

A simple "thanks for dropping by," would have been the professional and courteous response.

Grigg's 'The Day After' missed the target again

Mona Grigg almost finished her column on "The Day After" without saying anything foolish, but she blew it at the end. After a commendable call for reason on the sensitive nuclear arms issue, she violated her own advice with a blatantly irrational temper tantrum about "taking the atomic toys away" from the "push-the-button maniacs."

Civilian leaders who control nuclear weapons, and the military who obey their orders, have proven by over 30 years of unprecedented restraint that they are anything but maniacs.

Never have great powers been so careful. Never have brilliant, dedicated people labored so long and hard (and effectively) to avoid war.

Grigg was right about the need for reason. briefcases, has gratuitously insulted them with her silly remark. But the big problem is that such remarks confuse people, arousing emotions that make it harder to preserve peace.

Nuclear weaponry is the most complex, profound, intractable problem mankind ever faced. Its roots have baffled the most dazzling intellects: how do we reconcile humanity's primitive instincts and eternal competition for limited resources with the awesome power of our on-rushing technology?

If Grigg thinks she can reduce that titanic challenge to an exercise in kindergarten discipline ("take their toys away"), she is tragically mistaken. How does she propose to "take away the atomic toys?"

By killing everyone who knows how to build bombs? By burning physic books? Who are the saintly geniuses she proposes as replacements for the "maniacs?" Hasn't she noticed that self-proclaimed saintly geniuses always turn into frustrated, very human creatures whenever they actually achieve office? Somehow — once they face the hard, stubborn reality of a world full of fallible, ignorant, selfish, disagreeable people — even the visionaries cannot escape the grasp of traditional power politics.

Grigg was right about the need for reason. But her understanding of what that means is flawed, and she seems to lack the emotional self-discipline needed to reason on this touchy subject. When she writes of what she understands, the human heart, she is an exceptionally perceptive and masterful author. Her recent column on "being different" was a touching, uplifting jewel.

To be equally effective on issues of war and peace, she must master an awesome mass of information and her own emotions. The nuclear challenge is not amenable to simple-minded analysis or simple-minded solutions. It takes profound knowledge, vast self-control, infinite patience and endless hard work.

Christmas: A time to reach out to seniors

Eighty-three Christmases had come and gone for the man who, bundled in a patchwork quilt, sat quietly in his wheelchair, gazing at the frosted pane of glass. It really was no matter that his view was dimmed by the icy coating. He expected no visitors. The nursing home administrator who walked by stopped to give his shoulder a friendly squeeze. "Merry Christmas, Charlie," she called with a smile.

Then, turning on her heels, she sped off down the corridor and into her office. There had been an air of gaiety on the part of the nursing staff these past several weeks. Some of it was recognized by Charlie and the other residents. A great deal of the festivity seemed to go by quite unnoticed.

This Christmas would probably be not different for the old man than any of the past five he had spent at Shady Brook Rest Home. He had no living relatives. And what friends he had all seemed to be too busy these days to remember 'ol Charlie. He would savor every note sung by the carollers who strolled the hallways on Christmas Eve. And, he would enjoy the turkey dinner with his roommate, Sam. But then, with the noon meal finished, the afternoon would drag on, as often many an afternoon did.

His aimless thoughts were not really so much a complaint, as simple reflections about the way things were. He was indeed thankful. His mind was still in tact. And, except for the fact that he was bound to this wheelchair, he could still fend for himself. Besides, he concluded, wheeling himself back to his room, Christmas was for kids anyway.

As you ready yourself and your family for this holiday season, I hope you will pause to consider the Charlies of this world. Christmas may be relegated to children, but isn't there a little bit of a child left in all of us, no matter what our age?

Sometimes growing older is a lonely process. And, while for many, the holiday season is a time of great pleasure, for some, mistletoe and holly only serve to accentuate a sense of isolation. If you know of an older person who could use a little good cheer, take time to pay them a visit this season. If you don't know a "Charlie," consider adopting one. The Christmas spirit, in my mind, is all about extending the hand of kindness. A few outstretched hands to the Charlies this season, perhaps, will make this a better place in which to live.

Best wishes for a Happy Holiday.

Schools, teachers... eternity

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

When it comes to education, it appears society has created a "Pandora's Box".

And when the lid is removed, all hell will probably break loose.

I wonder if those in attendance at the Chamber luncheon really let Dr. Elvin Peets', Superintendent of the Van Buren Schools, words sink in. These words are frightening. Here's a direct quote: "We are creating students in today's classrooms who will not be able to compete in the future."

Those words were directed at the Belleville-Van Buren Chamber of Commerce, and should be echoed throughout the county, state and land.

If students of today can't compete tomorrow, they could destroy the fibers of this nation; if they can't compete tomorrow, the students of today will inevitably be a liability for the society of tomorrow.

Dr. Peets also reminded his audience what the National Commission on Education noted in its report that, "for the first time in U.S. history, a generation of young people were graduating who weren't as well educated as their parents."

And, the tragedy, I believe of this cataclysmic revelation is that most parents don't even care or how else can one explain the constant failures of millage proposals?

And now hear this from a very frustrated Romulus school district teacher.

"I wish I had some answers to our problems, but I don't. Everyone is losing in this one: the students, the parents and the teachers. Right now here in Romulus the morale of our teachers is so low that they (the teachers) don't trust or give a damn about what the School Board or Superintendent does. They just don't believe them."

"When you cut someone's salary by as much as $229 per week-and that is per week and not month-what's a teacher supposed to do? To survive he or she is going to have to look elsewhere to support himself and his family.

"We are just like the rest of you. You can't live on promises. The teachers in this school district are presently at the bottom of the wage scale in Wayne County, is it no wonder they are frustrated? Most of us are looking elsewhere for employment.

"We have problems ... and who cares? Nobody."

To refresh your memory, teachers in that school district had to digest a 22 percent across-the-board wage rollback. It was the first time in history of this state — and maybe the nation — where a school board had imposed unilateral cutbacks on teachers.

There is a saying I read a long time ago and it goes something like this: "A teacher touches eternity".

Is it a wonder that some of us are afraid today to look beyond tomorrow?

Recall, was it a farce?

EDITOR — The recent vote that unseated Senators Philip Mastin and David Serotkin seems so unwarranted. Over the years the Milliken legislative body only provided "first aid treatment" and the states problems should have had "emergency care," to correct Workers' Compensation laws and financing of public education are perfect examples of problems that have never been dealt with adequately. When Gov. James Blanchard took office it should have come as no surprise to the voters that a few possessed the courage to stem the tide of bankruptcy by going along with the tax increase. It should come as no surprise, therefore, that the recall groups are looking for ways to remove culprits from office and replace them with competent, concerned legislators who are more concerned with putting "Michigan on firm footings than with padding their pockets at the public's expense. I only hope their targets of recall are more deserving of this action than was Sen. Mastin and Sen. Serotkin, who got caught in the cross-fire. I don't think those who voted for the recall really knew just what they really voted for. With the loss of tax dollars from Michigan's once thriving economy and the tremendous burden this state has with a 14-percent unemployment rate, where do these people think the money is to come from to keep our state operating? Do they think by recalling Mastin and Serotkin that the 38-percent tax increase is going to stop? Don't they realize that an average family of four with a $20,000-a-year income is only paying approximately $5 more a week in additional taxes? The recall groups used deceptive tactics for the voters. We will never know just how many voters were taken in by the "Say Yes to Mastin and Serotkin," vote campaign literature when, in fact, a yes vote was a vote to recall both Sen. Mastin and Serotkin. These are the tactics employed by those with a vendetta, not a righteous cause. The recall of Mastin and Serotkin was a farce and a disgrace for Michigan. Out of 158,402 registered voters, only 26,720 voted for Mastin's recall. Where were the other voters? Only 27-percent voted and this special election was called legal. Our just reward may very well be a Legislature that will be afraid to act decisively on any issue for fear of punishment or recall by the belatedly noisy majority.

Thanks from the Adventists

EDITOR — We would like to thank the Belleville and Van Buren Township Community for their generous gifts, donations, bags of canned goods and clothing. Over 700 cans were collected and countless other items. Many of these items will be packed into Thanksgiving and Christmas boxes for the less fortunate this holiday season. Excess items will be used to help needy families throughout the year. We have been deluged with requests by concerned social workers, clergy and family members of families who have so little. We will try to help as many as possible, wherever the needs are the greatest. We thank this community for becoming actively involved in relieving the hunger of their less fortunate neighbors and have gained a great blessing ourselves from being a part of this great work. We would also like to thank Foodville of Belleville for their donation of grocery bags for this collection and their money gift to fill out these holiday boxes with special foods. If we missed your donation by our accident when collecting these bags from your porches or if you know of someone in great need, please call 461-0512.

'Turn on Romulus', great

EDITOR — Once again the citizens of Romulus have gone out of their way to make a community event a joyous occasion. This most recent event was the city's annual Tree Lighting Ceremony which had as its theme "Turn On Romulus" and was indeed a fitting start to the holiday season. Again this year we have many people to thank: • The Romulus High School Band who braved the wet and cold to provide special entertainment not only at the tree lighting ceremony, but also at the Senior Citizens High Rise. • The Brownies and Girl Scouts from Wick Elementary who led the community singing. • Jet Services, Inc. for providing Santa and Christmas Carol with a "special" sleigh. • The Romulus Dept. of Public Works for their excellent work in decorating the downtown area and the tree itself. • The Romulus Fire Department and Police Reserves for their participation and for providing Santa's transportation. • Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dohoney who provided the beautiful tree. • The Recreation Commission and other volunteers who gave of their time. • Bilmar's Supermarket and the Landing Strip Lounge for making their parking lots available. • The Romulus Community Schools for allowing us to use not only their band, but one of their buildings. • The Romulus Central Business District Association and the Romulus Greater Chamber of Commerce who dug deep to provide the Christmas stockings that the children enjoyed. • The Romulus McDonald's who generously supplied the soft drinks for the evening. • Daly's Restaurant who provided paper supplies. • To all the citizens of Romulus who shared this event with us — A Very Merry Christmas. • And of course, thanks to the jolly old elf himself and the ever lovely Christmas Carol who took time from their busy schedules to visit with the boys and girls of Romulus for a couple of hours.

'Giving Tree' glowed, thanks

EDITOR — On behalf of the membership of the GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who gave so freely of their time and money to make the 1983 "Giving Tree" the overwhelming success that it was. For the third consecutive year, area residents have worked with us to reach our goal of a Christmas gift for every needy child in the Van Buren School System. The true spirit of Christmas, and that of sharing with those less fortunate than yourself, was especially evident this year — as almost 300 gifts were received in trade for ornaments on the Giving Tree. Special thanks also to the management and staff of National Bank of Detroit in Belleville, who annually give us the use of their lobby space and Christmas Tree. Again, thank you all. NANCY SAWYER

reflections

A Christmas past

The bright moon shone down on the glistening snow as I threw myself on the sled for one last ride down the hill before going home for supper. The cold air whipped my cheeks, and the whistling sound around my muffled ears as the sled plunged downwards filled me with excitement. It was almost Christmas and I was nine years old and the excitement of the season was almost too much for one to bear, even though I knew there was a great chance Santa Claus would miss our house all together. For it was depression time. At the bottom of the hill I took hold of my sled with one hand and my little sister with the other and left the exciting hill and all the kids who were lucky enough to live close by. Main Street was deserted but the lights from the store windows made a welcoming path and as we reached the middle of the block my heart began to pound wildly, for in the very center of that block was a store, and in the window of that store was displayed the most beautiful, the most exquisite necklace of pale pink crystal. For weeks I had pressed my nose against the cold pane and dreamed of that necklace. I saw myself walking down a long circular stair, in a mansion that had taken up its abode in my dreams, and I saw people gasp admiringly as they saw the glisten and glitter of that pink ice around my neck . . . a neck that had become long and slender and elegant. I saw women faint and men beg to touch the shoulder on which that necklace lay, and always, always, I was cool and beautiful, descending that stairway, one lone slender hand touching the necklace lightly. It was a beautiful dream and as I pressed up against the window, my eyes searching frantically for the cherished object, dismay filled me, and a great wave of despair washed over me, for the necklace was gone. "C'mon, let's go," my little sister cried, tugging at my hand. "I'm cold, 'n it's dark 'n I'm hungry. Let's go." Taking one last despairing look around the window, I turned and turdged home. Gone was the excitement of knowing Christmas was just day after tomorrow, gone was everything, replaced with such crushing sadness as only a nine-year-old can experience when all her dreams have been shattered. Crossing the vacant lot we saw the light pouring from the kitchen window, and spilling out into the whiteness of the night, and as we drew closer, the door opened and mother stood there, her great eyes anxious, belying the smile on her face. In the way of mothers she saw that something was wrong with her oldest. "What's the matter, little one?" she asked, and before she could answer, my little sister, struggling with her scarf and hat, said, "Her dumb necklace wasn't there no more." My mother looked down at me and saw the pucker in my face and she put her cheeks to mine as she whispered, "Don't lose the magic. Who knows how things happen at Christmas . . ." The smell of good things cooking, and the warmth of the kitchen did a lot to dispel my gloom, but most of all, my mother's whispered words brought the magic back, just as the clock bonged out the hour of six, and my father came into the room. Stars shone and I could almost see the magic weaving its way through the room, and my heart filled with joy and excitement and anticipation. The wind was howling, throwing great blasts of snow against the window panes on Christmas Eve. A big fire was burning in the fireplace, and my mother was playing Christmas Carols on the piano, with my father sitting on the floor, leaning against the piano. My little sister and I took turns at the window. Icy hands grabbed my heart and squeezed because there was no way that Santa could get through that blizzard. "Why I've seen him make it trough worse blizzards than this," my father was saying, and my mother was smiling her encouraging smile while her fingers softly touched the piano keys. After we were finally tucked away in bed, I burrowed my head into my pillow and tried to bring forth my day dream . . . the winding stair, the pink crystal around my throat . . . but it wouldn't come. Tears trickled from under my eyelids and I brushed them away for I knew they were babyish. I tried to find the magic, and even when we heard sleigh bells tinkling from somewhere near the front porch, I couldn't allow myself to believe that Santa really had come, and that my dearest dream would be fulfilled. The sun had chased away the storm that Christmas morning, and sparkling icicles framed the windows. I shook my little sister awake, and we tore down the stairs and stood looking in awe at the tree, for all around its base were wondrous things, and there, there hanging on a branch almost near the middle, the sunlight piercing through the icicles and touching the tree, shone my pink magic . . . the crystals! The pink crystals!

tion — and that is as it should be in a representative democracy. We elect our representatives, and, if they fail us, we show our dissatisfaction on the next appointed election day. It is the most constructive and least disruptive way of giving a voice to millions of people. We can't all have our own way all, or even some, of the time. It isn't reasonable to even expect it. Just as it isn't reasonable to expect that, when you scare your representatives silly by threatening mayhem for their every move, you are going to have any kind of meaningful government. You're going to have just what you've got: Inaction to the point of no government at all. So, if you don't mind my asking (and even if you do), are you satisfied now, recall people? You should be. You got just what you wanted. But now that you've got it, what are you going to do with it? Have you decided among yourselves yet who's going to run the state?

A state run by recallers

I said once, in a moment of anger and boredom, that I had written my last column on recalls. At least, that's what I thought I said. And all this time, I've been biting my tongue and gritting my teeth and wishing I hadn't said that so I could write about the current recall debacle. But, on re-reading that early column, I found a loophole — a blessed loophole. What I actually said on August 10, 1983 was that "this is my last column on the old hat school board recall issue." Praise by my specificity, for now I can speak my piece. Which is to wit: There are some things dumber than wholesale "throw the bum out because he voted against me this time" recalls, but at the moment I can't think of any. Then again, there is a newly-formed coalition of recall groups. That's pretty dumb. Apparently they get together every now and then and congratulate one another for pouring bits and pieces of the Michigan democratic process down the drain. "Any recall is a good recall" could well be their motto. Else why form a recall coalition? At any rate, at this very moment they're no doubt cheering wildly because they've read, as we all have, that the legislature is so paralyzed with recall fear that a vote on when to reconvene becomes a major undertaking. I'd bet my last red cent that the recall people see that as a victory. This is their "constitutional right". Break out the champagne and never mind that the entire state government, has, for all intents and purposes, ground to a lurching halt. Forget that. Well, forgive me people, and chain me to the wall if you must, but I don't see it as a victory. I see it as an example of the worst kind of mass demagoguery. The same kind of blind, vicarious demagoguery that kept a nondescript, none-too-bright "public servant" like Senator Joseph McCarthy in power long after everyone with a hair of sense saw him for the fool he was. "Power" is the byword here, and might makes right. A government of the recall people, by the recall people, and for the recall people. Which brings me back to "constitutional right". In the state of Michigan we do, indeed, have right of recall. A 20th century experiment gone awry, as all but a few states recognize. It wasn't bad enough that in 1913 we gave ourselves the power to recall; in the process we forgot to be specific about what action (or inaction) should prompt a recall. Thus, we left ourselves open to recall on pure whim, if we so choose. All it takes is signatures on a petition. And signatures on a petition, if you haven't noticed, are in current vogue. "I signed that petition over there." "You did? What was it for?" "I don't know. It was something about the government." (Actual conversation overheard in a K-Mart parking lot.) Our forefathers, in 1776, must have foreseen with what whimsy Americans as individuals might decide a public official's fate. They consciously and purposely left the power to recall out of the United States constitution. Wise men, those authors of the Constitution. Seeking to avoid monarchy on the one hand, and anarchy on the other, they drew up, with awesome foresight, a document which so clearly, so succinctly and so reasonably describes our democratic form of government, there is little room for error — or abuse. There is no provision for recall in our Federal Constitu-

The giant step to manhood

This is a poem I presented my son, Wade Watkins, upon his graduation from "Jump School" at Ft. Benning Georgia, recently. Today, you have taken a "giant step" and became an "Airborne Man" And you've proven "all things possible", if you give all that you can! You have followed in my footsteps son, as you have "shuffled to the door" And left behind your boyhood. It's gone for evermore! You have sweat and cussed and pained and then You came back to sweat and pain again. Each day seemed worse than the day before Until you earned the right to, "Stand In The Door" You have proven, "all things possible" with courage and with prayer And I know, these things, to be a fact, because I once was there! You might fear a beast or illness, but you'll "drive on" the best you can, But you'll not fear the enemy, because you're the "Airborne Man"! I remember when you were born. You were small and helpless too, But now, I see a real man, who has proven what courage can do! Many days, you've made me proud, just because you are my son, But today has to be my proudest, because you're an "Airborne" one! CONGRATULATIONS, SON!

dots were distributed to everyone and placed on hands, the bi-dots were similar to the formerly popular "mood rings" in that they changed colors with the temperature of the hand.

Ms. Brandi explained that the less stress a person is under, his or her hands will be warmer, thus making the dot turn colors. Black indicates tenseness, whereas blue exhibits calmness. After experiencing the meditative type activity, color changes took place.

Ms. Brandi followed up with a hand-out on breathing and relaxation exercises and in addition a paper entitled "An Outside In Procedure for Teaching Children to Relax".

Club of America! While the club is headquartered in Pontiac, naturally several area people are members, including Jim and Ann Dolinski of Inkster, Dave and Sue Rodd of Canton and Ken Johnstone ...and believe me, they take the Trans Ams seriously.

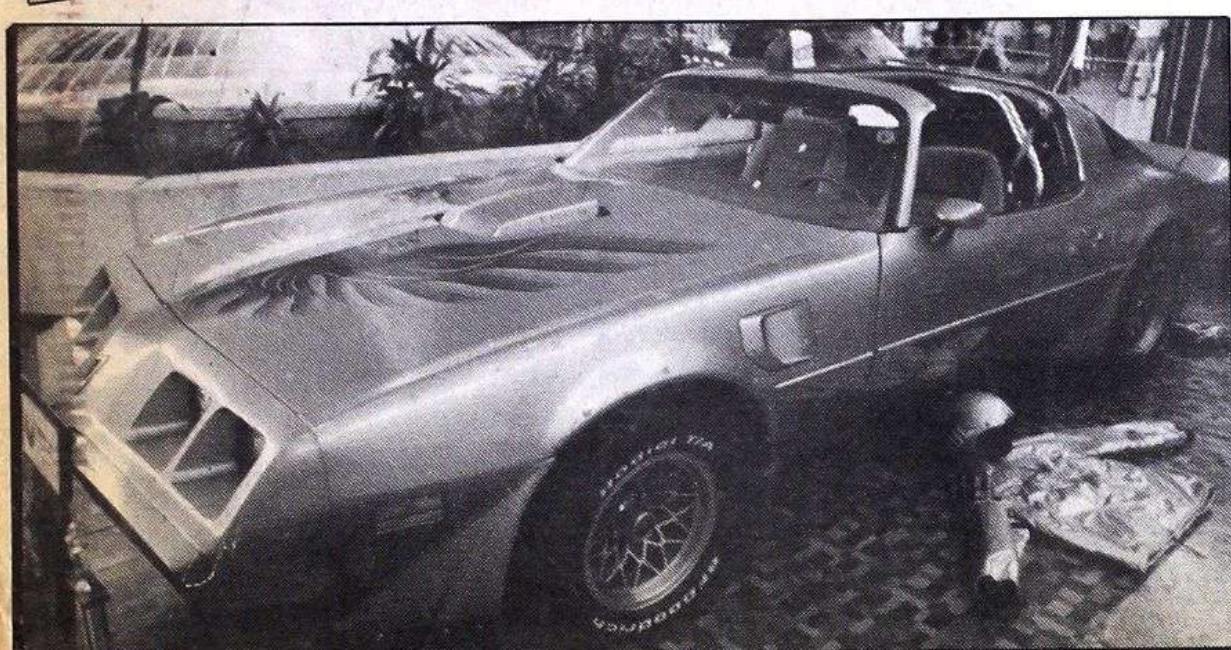

So that you might understand their enthusiasm, you should know that the first year for Trans Ams was 1969, a year that saw production of only 697 units. In 1979, considered by most to end an era for Trans Ams as the 400-cubic inch engine was dropped, a total of 117,109 units were built.

And club pride? You should know that out of the 697 1969 Trans Ams, eight were convertibles and of those, three belong to the Trans Ams Club of America.

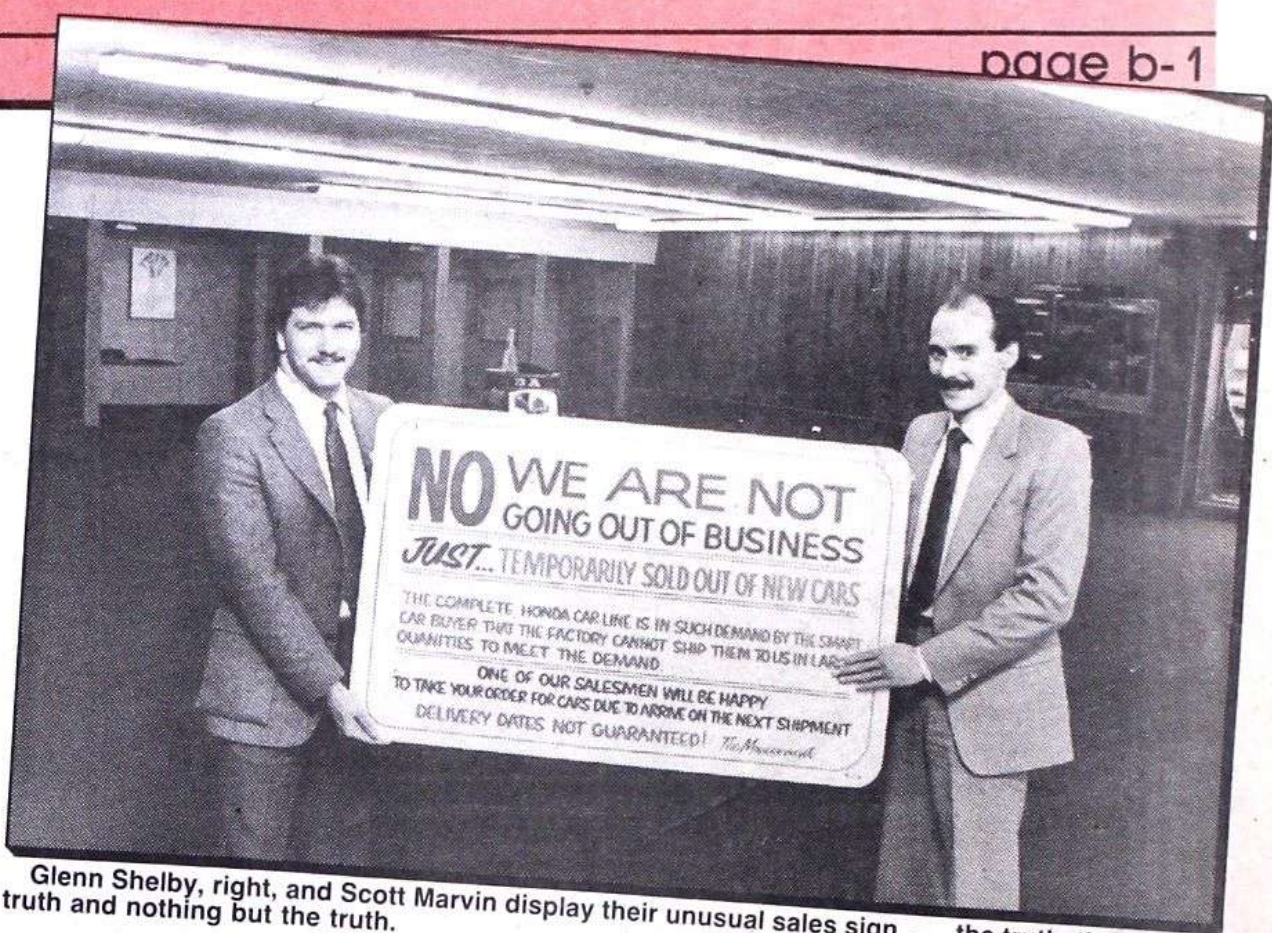

Paul Renaud, group president pro-tem, and Dave Vander-Roest, president-elect, both stress that "the club is family oriented." Renaud adds that, "we offer help with the cars, to keep it nice or build it up."

The group was formed in 1976 by six Pontiac employees to preserve and encourage the marque. All Trans Am owners and interested parties are open for membership. You do not actually have to own a Trans Am to join. Club activities include road rallies, picnic, car shows, swap meets and several others. More information about the club is available from Dave or Sue Rodd, 459-3788 or you can write to the club at Trans Am Club of America, P.O. 3438, Pontiac, Mich., 48059.

After mentioning the fleet of Trans Ams that Red Holman has in my last column, I heard immediately from other Trans Am owners — namely the Trans Ams

Jim Dolinski's 1975 Firebird Trans Am with a 1977 front end, 6.6 litre motor and four-speed Hurst.

Glenn Shelby, right, and Scott Marvin display their unusual sales sign ... the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

When I walked into Rosenau Honda on Michigan Avenue in Inkster and saw the sign (photo at left) I knew I had found my kind of people.

Glenn Shelby, sales manager and Scott Marvin, salesman, obliged me by holding the sign for photographer Lothar Konietzko. Glenn says that his sales are exceeding Honda's ability to send him cars. If you have been in a cave for the past couple of months, you may not know that in addition to a record-setting sales year for the Accord and Prelude models Honda very subtly introduced what could be the most revolutionary new car line since the VW Beetle — the new Civics.

Now it is Glenn's fervent hope that as you read this he will be filling the empty showroom shown behind him ... but just in case, he does have a full line of photos you can see if you wish to get your order placed. Rosenau Honda ... they tell it like it is.

Coming up in Wheel World ... Rick Brackens Shelby 500 from Belleville, what a beauty!!! Have fun, make money, a Suzuki ATV ...and gift suggestions for hard to please car, snowmobile and motorcycle enthusiasts and, at last, the 1200 Gold Wing!

Leading off the gift suggestions, we may have found the mother lode. ARA, at 34043 Ford Road in Westland can do it all. General Manager Jim Ward installs sunroofs, air conditioning, cruise controls and stereo systems for all makes and models of auto and truck. If you move quickly, most all can be installed before Christmas.

If need be, he can fix you up with a gift certificate ...be sure you see his pop-top sunroof, the quality is indeed impressive. Questions? Give Jim a call at 729-4210.

Laser Beam Surgery

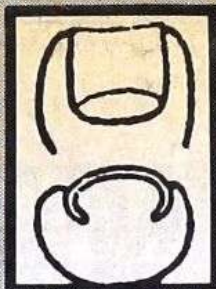

Laser beam surgery is a new and improved modality for the treatment of conventional foot ailments. Laser beam surgery has proven to be safe and effective in the allied medical fields such as ophthalmology, gynecology and now, podiatry.

Foot Problems Solved by Laser Light

In Podiatry, a considerable variety of foot ailments can be treated with the laser

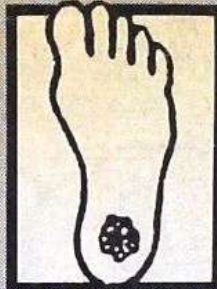

SOME OF THE CONDITIONS NOW SUCCESSFULLY BEING TREATED BY LASERS

INGROWN NAILS

The corner of the nail and root is vaporized which is the cause of the problem.

WARTS

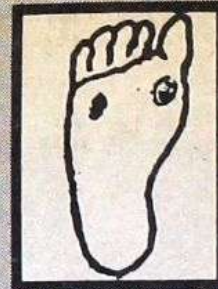

Laser beam is used to evaporate instead of cutting the wart, thus eliminating growth and recurrence.

FUNGUS NAILS

Normally a painful operation with cutting the laser vaporizes the nail which is quicker and less painful. It also sterilizes and destroys the fungus.

PLANTERS CORNS

With this process deep seated corns on the bottom of the foot are vaporized.

WE ARE ALSO NOW ACCEPTING NEW PATIENTS FOR

Conventional Medical & Surgical Treatment of Foot & Ankle Disorders (Adult & Children)

- Bunions
- Corns
- Hammer Toes
- Vascular Disorder of Feet & Ankle
- Diabetic Feet
- Heel Spurs & Heel Pain
- Sports Related Injuries
- Infant In Toe & Out Toe
- Fractures of the foot & ankle

WHAT IS LASER PODIATRY?

The surgical laser effectively removes unwanted tissue due to the energy emitted by the laser beam and works by absorbing the water tissue. The major difference in laser podiatry and conventional surgery is that normal cutting is sometimes not necessary.

LASER PODIATRY NOW AVAILABLE

We are one of a few physicians to incorporate this new medical treatment, which can help eliminate fear of conventional surgery.

The first of more than 53,000 full-size Chevrolet Blazers and pickup trucks ordered by the U.S. armed forces is loaded for shipment from the General Motors Truck & Bus Group assembly plant in Flint. The military's Commercial Utility Cargo Vehicles (CUCVs) are powered by GM's versatile 6.2-liter diesel V8 engine; all have automatic transmission and four-wheel drive. The military's purchase of the Chevrolet vehicles "represents a major effort of the military and GM to achieve substantial economies by adapting proven production designs to the tough, rugged applications required by our military forces," said Robert C. Stempel, Chevrolet Motor Division general manager and a GM vice president. Production of the specially-adapted Chevrolet vehicles began in August and is scheduled to continue through April 1986.

Nissan 'buckles up baby'

Nissan now makes it easy to buckle up your child for safety as well as yourself.

Nissan U.S.A. has announced it is offering a high-quality child safety seat to be sold through its nearly 1,100 Datsun dealerships.

The new seat, designed for children from 4 months to 4 years old, combines safety, comfort and convenience features which make it the most advanced child seat in the automotive industry, according to Jerry Butts, vice-president of parts. Butts estimated that some 13,000 seats will be sold the first year.

Features unique to Nissan's child safety seat include an inertia-actuated, self-adjusting harness which instantly locks upon rapid deceleration, yet allows the child free movement in the seat, a padded breast-plate and a one buckle fastener that can be coupled with one hand. A convertible design accommodates infants and toddlers.

The seat meets all Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards regulations and is adaptable to all domestic and imported cars with an integral seat belt system.

A free Nissan mascot (stuffed animal) will be given away with each seat purchased through Jan. 31, 1984 at participating Datsun dealers.

There are only a few things more aggravating than a frozen door lock. If it should happen to you — beware! Using the wrong method to thaw out the lock could cause costly damage to the car, says the Automotive Information Council (AIC).

Never pour hot water down the side of the car window and the door handle to thaw the lock. The water freezes again very quickly, making the situation worse. Also, you could crack the window glass and ruin the car's finish as well.

The best and quickest way to thaw the lock, says AIC, is to heat the key. You can use a match, candle, cigaret lighter or some other heating device that may be handy. It is easier to use a lighter, since you don't have to keep relighting it. Even if you don't smoke, you might consider keeping an inexpensive disposable lighter on hand for this purpose. Wear gloves to keep from burning your fingers on the hot key. You may have to repeat the process several times to thaw the lock completely.

There are products on the market especially designed to unstuck frozen car door locks. They come in an aerosol spray can and are generally a mixture of alcohol and a lock lubricant which is squirted into the keyhole. As these mixtures contain alcohol, never use a flame near the lock.

Once the door lock is unfrozen, you may discover the latch mechanism on the door edge is also frozen. A spray lock-thaw product can be used on the moving parts of the door latch to thaw it.

Auto Club blasts new helmet law

"The recent House amendment to the seat belt bill which would allow motorcyclists aged 18 or older to obtain an exemption to the mandatory helmet law is an invitation to tragedy," said Thomas G. Bowman, Automobile Club of Michigan's assistant vice president-Insurance.

If an amendment to the proposed seat belt bill is adopted as law, the Auto Club said it would be forced to add a 50 percent insurance surcharge to appropriate coverages for all motorcycle policies.

"The proposed amendment would mean a dramatic increase in catastrophic motorcycle accidents — many of them resulting in permanent head injuries," said Bowman. "The average catastrophic traffic accident claim in Michigan now requires lifetime medical costs of $4 million per person."

He said the number of cyclists now involved in catastrophic traffic accidents is disproportionately high when compared with those in autos.

While motorcycles on the road in Michigan constitute less than 4 percent of all vehicles, they are involved in 10 percent of the serious brain and spinal cord injuries.

Guess who's kissing Santa Claus NOW

Ever since Bobby Helms swung into the Christmas season with "Jingle Bell Rock" over 20 years ago, rock 'n' roll and yuletide have met under the mistletoe annually, sometimes with forgettable results, sometimes with great ones, but nearly always interesting. No one's likely to place such obscurities as Santa Jaws or Cheech & Chong's Santa Claus and His Old Lady in the same class as Bing Crosby's White Christmas. Where that leaves such banter as Happy New Year by Abba and Grandma Got Run Over By a Reindeer is anyone's guess.

But in truth, many of the rockin' Christmas songs are quite good. Take Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band's rollicking version of Santa Claus is Coming to Town (available only on a various artist LP titled "Harmony 2"), Christmas Bop by T-Rex, the Kink's Father Christmas and Paul McCartney's Wonderful Christmastime. And, of course, one can't overlook the one rock tune that is destined to become classic holiday fare: Happy XMAS (War Is Over) by John Lennon and the Plastic Ono Band.

Last season brought a few newcomers to the Christmas turntable, notably the wonderful medley by David Bowie and Bing Crosby of Peace on Earth/Little Drummer Boy, taken from the last Crosby Christmas Special before his death. Dave Edmunds, late of Rockpile, put his two cents into the holiday season with his version of Run Rudolph Run. It's good, but I prefer Keith Richards' raunchier rendition.

Billy Squire released his heavy metal Christmas Is the Time to Say I Love You last year, but it's getting a big push from the record company this year. Maybe radio will have the good sense not to play it too often anyway. Christmas Day by Squeeze is much preferred, as is Joan Jett's Little Drummer Boy.

Yucks galore await the aficionado willing to dig up a copy of The Chipmunk Song by Canned Heat & the Chipmunks, Tiny Tim's White Christmas, or Martin Mull's fantastic Santa Doesn't Cop Out On Dope, which carries the classic yuletide message, "On Donder/On Blitzen/But never on smack!"

Recent tongue-in-cheek offerings include The Twelve Days of Christmas by those hosers from the Great White North, Bob & Doug McKenzie, I Won't Be Twisting This Christmas by Father Guido Sarducci, and of course, last year's We Wish You A Scary Christmas by (who else?) Count Scary. Ooooooh, that's Christmasy!

Hardcore fans were treated to (Bleep) Christmas by Fear, while artsy types got a X-mas present in the form of A Christmas Dream, an import only 45 by an aggregation calling themselves The Dumbbells, which was actually members of Roxy Music together with new music tart Laurie Anderson.

Christmas 1983 has brought a few noteworthy additions to my collection, the best of which is Thanks For Christmas by the Three Wise Men, who are in reality XTC, one of the premier pop bands of the past 10 years. It's available only on import. Just as great is Christmas Is Coming by Canada's excellent Payolas. Produced by guitar whiz Mick Ronson, it's available on their top-notch new LP, "Hammer On a Drum," and on a nifty gren-vinyl 12-inch 45.

On the album side, the nod goes to David Grisman's Acoustic Christmas, which features an album chocked full of acoustic instrumental favorites like Auld Lang Syne and Winter Wonderland. The self-styled mondo mandolinist even dedicates We Wish You a Merry Christmas to Scrooge McDuck, Donald's penny-pinching uncle. Also, it's advisable to check out Rhino Records timely re-release of The Three Stooges Christmas, featuring all their old X-mas tunes like All I Want For Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth.

But of course, any rock Christmas collection worth its salt needs to count among its picture sleeves perhaps the greatest seasonal song of the century. I speak of course of X-Mas At K-Mart by Root Boy Slim & the Sex Change Band with the Rootettes.

All dolled up

There'll be plenty of smiles on youngsters' faces in Westland this Christmas, thanks to the efforts of the Westland Goodfellows, and the nimble fingers of residents. The Goodfellows collected more than $5,000 during the annual newspaper sale this past weekend and are adding to the amount with contributions such as the $500 check presented to Goodfellow president John Reddy by Wayne-Ford Civic League president Marion Greenfield. There also will be smiles on little girls' faces when they spy a Goodfellow doll in their holiday basket, dressed by residents and on display presently at the Civic League.

Ensemble presents concert

The Schoolcraft College Wind Ensemble will present a Christmas Concert at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Marquis Theater in downtown Northville. World renowned saxophonist Donald Sinta will be guest soloist.

The program includes Alfred Reed's "Russian Christmas Music," John Edmondson's arrangement of "Christmas Recollections," and Sammy Nestico's arrangement of "Christmas Spirit." The latter features contemporary versions rich in harmonies.

Sinta will perform on "Air Nostalgique" by Ted Huggens, and "Czardas" by Monti and Anderson.

The ensemble, under the direction of Victor A. Markovich consists of 45 to 55 musicians from different communities and different professions; but, when they are together, they make a resounding and competent concert band.

Formed five years ago by Richard Saunders, the ensemble has rehearsed each week at Schoolcraft and has performed regularly throughout the metropolitan Detroit area including the University of Windsor, and they have been regular performers at the Livonia Music Under the Stars.

Saxophone virtuoso Sinta has been a performer, teacher and clinician. Following tenure with the Detroit Symphony, he became a faculty member at Ithaca College in New York and later at the Hartt College of Music in Connecticut. In 1974, Sinta joined the U of M to succeed his long-time teacher, Larry Teal, as professor of saxophone.

Last year, Mr. Sinta performed in 15 states including Hawaii, and a world premiere of the Paul Cooper "Concerto" in Stockholm, Sweden. His technical mastery of the instrument has earned him over 40 commissions or premieres by American composers, including Pulitzer Prize winner Karel Husa and Leslie Bassett.

Tickets are $4 for the general public, $3 for students and senior citizens and will be available at the door. Phone 591-6400, ext. 510 for further information.

A busy schedule

The Golden Hour Club seniors have been enjoying themselves these last seven or eight weeks, with our weekly meetings, sales and trips. The members are a friendly group of people, and we do love to visit with each other as often as we are able.

There was a Thursday when the club had six of the candidates who were running for council as guests as speeches were allowed. At another meeting we had a guest speaker from the Bell Telephone Co. She explained what would be happening to our phone bills after the first of the year.

Our trip to Eureka Springs, Okla., was a great success and very enlightening to all. With a visit to Merimac Caves, which, as the legend says, use to be the hiding place of Jesse James. We also visited a musical museum and saw so many old and valuable music instruments. Then there was a visit to Dogpatch, USA. This is a fun spot and really something to see. The highlight of our trip was to the Passion Play. It was so inspiring that I would recommend it to everyone to try and see. I must say this that Brazil has nothing on this country's Christ of the Ozarks. What a beautiful sight to look up to. We also visited Silver City before starting our return trip home. Yes we were glad to be back but we wouldn't have missed this trip, if at all possible. Our next trip is to the Ford Mansion and a trip to Toledo and the Westgate Dinner Theatre.

The club also went to Mackinaw Island again this year, and Janet Cooper walked off with the prize for best costume. The theme this year was based on the dresses of the '40s.

The club enjoyed a lovely Thanksgiving dinner which was catered by Matt's. It was delicious. After dinner we were entertained by a very good magician.

Classes in painting and handcraft are still on Wednesdays, and there are exercise classes on Monday. If you are interested in these, feel free to come no experience is required. You will learn as you work along with others. Pinochle is still played on Tuesday evenings. An invitation is extended to all who would enjoy the game.

As we are preparing for our Christmas Holidays and looking forward to our annual Christmas dinner on the 15th of this month. This writer may not have much to write about until early in February.

I would like to extend my best wishes to each and every one of you my readers a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy and safe New Year. Be back next year love you.

Hay attains honor

Hard work has paid off for 17-year-old Larry Hay of Canton, who this week was welcomed into the ranks of Eagle Scout at Troop 1738's Court of Honor.

Hay, who joined the Boy Scouts in 1981, is the troop's first Eagle Scout, the highest rank in Boy Scouting achieved by only one in 100 Boy Scouts.

A student at Plymouth Canton High School, Hay designed and constructed a mile-long nature trail in the woods adjoining Hulsing Elementary School as his community service project for the Eagle Scout rank.

With the help of troop members and township authorities, Hay cleared the trail route, marked the trail with logs and distributed bark chips on the path. Trees, shrubs and flowers along the path were also identified. The trail is dedicated to Daniel Boone, whose adventures highlighted on plaques placed throughout the trail.

Hay, who chose his project because he enjoys the outdoors, plans to pursue a career in veterinary medicine.

The 'B' squad
Robichaud makes All-Area formidable

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

There was a wealth of talent and a high degree of excellence in Class B football in this area this autumn, and the members of the Class B All Area team typify that superiority.

The Bulldogs of Robichaud High School were the premier team on this side of the state this season. They racked up an impressive 10-0 record before losing a tough contest to the eventual state champions, East Grand Rapids, in a semi-final game.

A tough defense, and a potent offense combined to earn Robichaud their best season ever.

On the offense, eight members of the Bulldog crew have been named to the All-Area team. The first is quarterback Mark Medlock, who called the signals all season.

In 178 attempted passes, Medlock was successful 92 times for 1337 total yards. He was responsible for a dozen touchdowns, and he scored five himself. His passing yardage and touchdown totals are both school records. From his defensive position at free safety, Medlock picked off three interceptions during the year.

In the backfield, two more Bulldogs have been honored. First is Mike Bowden. The senior running back set a Robichaud record this season with 1084 yards in 168 carries, he added 12 touchdowns, and scored one two point conversion.

Helping Bowden out was Gerald Brazill. His 92 rushes were good for 703 yards, and he scored 13 touchdowns and a two point conversion for 80 total points, a new Bulldog mark.

Two more Bulldogs manned the end positions on offense. Maurice Smith took one of the slots. Smith was Medlock's favorite target during the year. He latched on to 29 passes for 377 yards, scored four TDs, and totaled 41 extra point kicks. On defense, from the safety slot, he also racked up three interceptions.

On the other end of the line is Joe Fears, who totaled 292 yards on 14 passes. He scored one touchdown, and also played a key role on the defense with 23 solo tackles for Robichaud.

The line also is well stacked with Bulldog bodies. At center, Jeff Price did an outstanding job of snapping the ball all season, and he also took a turn at defensive tackle, where he mustered 58 solo tackles.

Tom Starosciak played one of the offensive guard slots for Robichaud, as well as defensive linebacker, and he was responsible for 30 solo tackles, 43 assists, two sacks, four recovered fumbles and a blocked pass.

Next to Starosciak was Troy Taylor at tackle. Taylor helped anchor the offensive line, and he contributed 42 solo stops and 39 assists.

The Inkster Vikings, who reversed a 3-6 1982 mark to 6-3 this year also put three talented players on the offense. In the backfield, Earnest Robinson led the charge for the Vikings. He rushed 585 yards on 45 carries for the maroon and white, and he added eight touchdowns to the scoreboard. He also scored one TD on a punt return.

Marc King, a 6-2 senior, opened holes for Robinson from his tackle's position, and generally gave the line some stability.

"Marc did a good job for us this year," said Inkster coach Arnice James. "He was one of the keys to our offense."

Another big key was William Childers, who played guard superbly for the Vikes.

"Childers was our trapping guard, and he did the job as well as anyone could be expected to do it," said James.

The defensive squad for Class B has been extended to 12 players for All-Area, since defense was really the name of the game this year in that class of grid action.

Robichaud also is well represented on this team. Paul Greene, an All-State player for 1983, leads the way from his tackle spot. Greene made life miserable for opposing offenses with 84 solo tackles, 67 assists, three sacks, four fumble recoveries, and uncounted amounts of bruises on opposing runners.

Greene's teammate, Will Brazill, was outstanding from the back's position for the Bulldogs. He intercepted three passes for Robichaud, and returned one for a touchdown. Brazill also was exceptional as an offensive safety. He caught 23 passes for 262 yards, and scored 20 points for the 'dogs.

The Vikings also were a fine defensive team this season. From defensive end, Mondo Tatum was always on the prowl. He brought down 35 opposing runners by himself, and he was in on 36 others. He also put the opponents quarterback down eight times this autumn.

Lorenzo Haley did remarkable two-way playing for the Vikes. At defensive tackle, Haley went head-to-head with the best linemen the Suburban Athletic Conference had to offer, and an offense, he went 480 yards in 40 tries for the Inkster crew.

In last week's sports section, it was incorrectly reported that John Montroy of Wayne won the 138 pound class at the Belleville Invitational Wrestling meet. Actually, Tim Collins of Canton High School won the division to run his seasonal record to 5-0. Montroy was second.

Inkster also had three linemen this season who were worthy of All-Area attention. Willie McCall, a junior, helped set the pace for the Vikes with 56 solo tackles, 72 assists, six sacks and a fumble recovery.

Another junior coach James will be glad to see next year is David Laws. The linebacker had 58 solo tackles to his credit, and he helped out on 55 more.

The senior class is represented in the Viking line by Darryl Hammons. Hammons played the "monster man" spot for Inkster most of the year, and lived up to the name. He scored 43 solo stops, assisted on 44 more and also picked off an interception.

As a defensive back, Darryl Groce was very effective for coach James' crew. Groce, who played quarterback on offense, stopped 39 opposing runners by himself, and he joined in on 36 more tackles.

The defensive safety's slot is filled by Inkster's Leon Hall. Hall was always in front of opposing receivers, and he also did the job from his split end's position on offense, where he caught 16 passes for 165 yards.

The Cherry Hill Spartans had an up-and-down season, as they got off to a fine start, but then faltered at the end. Dave Keynick was right in there for all the plays, as he excelled from the defensive end spot, and also played quarterback. On defense.

"Dave's knowledge of the quarterback's position made him a fine defensive end," said coach Jerry Pawloski. "He also was fast enough, with 4.8 speed in the 40 yard dash, to stay with anybody."

Tom Blaylock also represents the Spartans in the defensive line.

Blaylock led the Cherry Hill attack with 61 tackles, was voted MVP by his teammates, and generally led the Spartan defense.

"Tom's a strong kid," said Pawloski. "He bench presses 240 pounds, which isn't too bad for a guy who's 5 foot 7, 140 lbs."

At New Boston Huron High, the Chiefs suffered through a 0-9 season, but they still got an outstanding performance from defensive lineman Paul Spraub. The senior Chief had 11 solo tackles, 19 first hits, 24 assists, two interceptions and one fumble recovery.

Coach of the Year

Near perfect year for Robert Yauck

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

When it came time to pick the 1983 Coach of the Year in Class B, there really wasn't much competition.

Robert Yauck, who led the Robichaud Bulldogs to their best finish ever, 10-1, and a spot in the state semi-finals, was really in a class by himself.

Yauck, who also serves as Principal and Athletic Director at the Dearborn Heights school, has been at the helm of the Bulldogs for 14 seasons. During that time, he has guided the Bulldogs to a 66-60 record. His teams have won five Suburban Athletic Conference titles, including the last two, and Robichaud grid-ders also qualified for the state playoffs in 1977.

Coach Yauck is a graduate of the University of Iowa, where he was a member of the Hawkeye football team that won the Big Ten championship in 1960.

Both daily Detroit Newspapers, the News and the Free Press, also honored Yauck as the Class B coach of the year for 1983.

'Food for thought'

Van Buren's food workshop has many delectable ideas

Good use of the curriculum release day was made at Savage School.

Dorothy Gustafson, a former Van Buren teacher, came back to present a creative foods workshop. Unlike other "foods" workshop, the focus was on intergrating activities with food into the curriculum. Most of the ideas presented were appropriate for grades Pre-school through fourth.

Gustafson brought with her experience as a teacher, parent and pre-school helper. Her ideas have been tried and basic philosophy is that using a food activity as a follow up to teaching a concept can help children to retain that thought for a longer period of time. Because every sense is utilized in the projects, the intensity of learning (sight, sound, taste, touch, smell) is greatly increased.

The first part of her presentation had to do with tying in foods with the seasons and or holidays. She took the group through the school year beginning with September and ending in June with numerous suggestions. One idea for Christmas was to make a "Rudolph Sandwich" by making a peanut butter and jelly sandwich using wheat bread: cutting off two sides to form a triangle; dabbing a little peanut butter on two raisins to hold eyes in place and a little on the cherry for the nose; and using 4 stick-type pretzels for the antlers. These sandwiches were composed by the workshop participants at the end of the session.

Probably, the most stimulating aspect of this inservice was the relationship of what you can do with food relative to literature. "Where the Wild Things Are" by Maurice Sendak was a suggested book and the related food idea was to have the children create their own monster with cookie dough, bake it and then eat it. "Apple Pigs" by Ruth Orbach is another story that actually includes the recipe for making one in its ending. Having a penguin party was presented as a suggestion after reading "Funny Feet" by Leatie Weiss. Penguins can be made from hard-boiled eggs standing on carrot pieces with black olives used as heads and wings.

Countless creative ideas were shared with the teachers that were exciting and uplifting. The spirit of love and enthusiasm for children was evident in this presentation. It had the apparent effect of "rubbing off" on all those who took part.

Rudolph sandwiches

There was literally a lot of food for thought when Dorothy Gustafson returned to the classroom to help make "Rudolph Sandwiches" (above) while teachers (below) Jackie Hollis, Donna Sierota, Kathy Gray and Susan Sell show off their creations.
